Dear Sisters and Brothers in Christ,

I always have mixed emotions when I complete my tasks as an interim and bid farewell to a congregation. I find great satisfaction in having done what I was called to do, but I am ever aware that there are things left unaccomplished. I experience excitement as I think about the new relationship and mission that will be formed between the newly called pastor who follows me and the congregation I am leaving, but I am saddened at having to disconnect from people that I have come to cherish.

Please know that you will remain in my thoughts and prayers. I feel like I imagine a foster parent feels when they release their charge to a new, settled living arrangement. I pray God the Father's steadfast faithfulness toward you, the Spirit's uplifting and compelling movement among you and our Lord's likeness in this Body of Christ which is Augustana Lutheran Church.

Grace and peace,
Pastor Jeanne
